Meyer-Ohlendorf, Nils 2009: „Bringt mehr Umweltschutz mehr Gerechtigkeit?“. MigrantInnenUmweltZeitschrift (MUZ), Vol. 2009, No. 2, 10-11.

In the current political debate, justice seems equivalent with even income distribution. Other justice aspects appear absent: studies show that low-income groups suffer more from pollution than high-income groups. This includes noise, air pollution and lack of accessible green spaces. At the same time, higher-income groups consume more resources than the poor. Nils Meyer-Ohlendorf discusses in brief these issues in the MigrantInnenUmweltZeitschrift (MUZ), Issue 2.

MUZ is published by the Turkish-German Environmental Center e. V. (TDZ e. V.); it is the TDZ mission to raise environmental awareness, in particular among Turkish-speaking immigrants.
