Andrea Rietz is employed as a Financial Manager at Ecologic Institute. She is responsible for all accounting at the institute, including accounts receivable and payable as well as money transactions. In addition, she collaborates with the tax advisor and certified public accountants on the institute's yearly audited financial statement. A native German speaker, she has good knowledge of English and working knowledge of Danish and Russian.

Other focal points of her work are the administrative supervision of the independent branch of Ecologic Institute in Washington, DC and Ecologic Institute's office in Brussels. She also regularly updates internal controlling, e.g. for liquidity planning. Additionally, she works within the area of administrative contract management.

□

For the ten years prior to her engagement at Ecologic Institute, Andrea Rietz worked as an accountant in an architecture firm in Berlin (Germany), where she handled project accounting. Before this, she worked in the accounting department of a software company as well as an international shipping company.

Andrea Rietz studied economics at the University of Commerce Leipzig (Germany).
