

PUBLICATION

Conference Paper
Global Environment
Governance
Sustainability

Reform of Global Sustainable Development Institutions

The current institutional framework for sustainable development needs to be reformed, strengthened, better coordinated

[1]

The current institutional framework for sustainable development needs to be reformed, strengthened, better coordinated, and made more coherent. In a briefing paper for the conference "Green Development and Governance Innovation: Prospects on the Rio+20" on 17 and 18 April 2012 in Shanghai, Sascha Müller-Kraenner, Partner of Ecologic Institute, points out the urgency of such reforms.

From 17th to 18th April 2012, the conference "Green Development and Governance Innovation: Prospects on the Rio+20" took place in Shanghai. Organisers are the Friedrich Ebert Foundation Shanghai [2] and the Shanghai Institutes for International Studies \(SIIS\) [3]. On the 18th April, Sascha Müller-Kraenner gave a presentation on the reform of global sustainable development institutions. The briefing paper [4][pdf, 3 MB, English] is available for download.

Attachments

-  Briefing Paper: Reform of Global Sustainable Development Institutions
-  Conference Programme

Main Link

Conference Paper: Reform of Global Sustainable Development Institutions [pdf, 3 MB, English]

Ecologic Related Articles

- Global Environmental Governance and International Environmental Regimes
- International regimes and environmental policy integration: introducing the special issue

---

Citation

Müller-Kraenner, Sascha 2012: Reform of Global Sustainable Development Institutions. Conference on Green Development and Governance Innovation: Prospects on the Rio+20 Summit. Briefing Paper. Shanghai: Friedrich Ebert Foundation.

Language

English

Author(s)

Sascha Müller-Kraenner

Funding

- Friedrich Ebert Foundation, China (FES), China
- Shanghai Institutes for International Studies (SIIS), China

Publisher

- Friedrich Ebert Foundation, China (FES), China

Year

2012

Dimension

8 pp.

Table of Contents

Introduction and Summary

1. From Stockholm to Rio and Rio+20

2. The Rio+20 Agenda

3. Institutional Framework for Sustainable Development

4. Financing Options for Sustainable Development Institutions

5. A New World of Cooperation

Bibliography

Keywords

international environmental governance, sustainable development, institutional reform, environmental regimes, UNEP, CSD, UNFCCC, international

---

Source URL (modified on 08/23/2018 - 07:00): <https://www.ecologic.eu/4698>

Links

[1] https://www.ecologic.eu/sites/files/presentation/2014/mueller-kraenner-fes-reform-of-gsdi-cover\_0.jpg

[2] http://www.fes-china.org/en/index.php?option=com\_content&view=frontpage&Itemid=1&lang=en

[3] <http://www.siis.org.cn/en/default.aspx>

[4] https://www.ecologic.eu/sites/files/publication/2014/mueller-kraenner\_2012\_reform\_of\_global\_sustainable\_development-institutions\_0.pdf