Monica Ridgway

MSc (Economics and Management Science)
BBA (Business Honors and Marketing)
Researcher

Monica Ridgway manages the Green Growth Network at C40 Cities Climate Leadership Group [1]. In this position, she supports a network of cities to develop methodologies to quantify the co-benefits of climate action and work more effectively with the private sector.

Monica worked at Ecologic Institute from 2012 to 2015 as a Researcher. Her research focused on urban sustainability and resilience. Monica is a native English speaker and has a working knowledge of German.

Monica Ridgway managed the European research project Post Carbon Cities of Tomorrow 2 funded by the European Commission's Seventh Framework Program (FP7). Furthermore, she performed market research for water information products and services for the FP7 project Sharing Water-related Information to Tackle CHanges in the Hydrosphere - for Operational Needs [3] (SWITCH-ON).

Previously, Monica worked as a guest researcher at the Mercator Research Institute on Global Commons and Climate Change [4] (MCC) on the topic of behavioral economics and mobility. Prior to joining Ecologic Institute, she worked at the Institute of Public Economics [5] at Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin (HU Berlin, Germany) and at the Berlin School of Economics and Law. During her undergraduate studies, Monica was a research assistant at the McCombs School of Business Management Department [6] and at the Center for International Business Education and Research [7].

Monica was awarded a scholarship from the German Academic Exchange Service [8] (DAAD) for her studies in the Master's Program in Economics and Management Science at HU Berlin, where she wrote her master's thesis titled "Decoupling economic activity and car use: an analysis of US metropolitan areas." Monica received her BBA from the University of Texas at Austin (USA) with a double major in Business Honors and Marketing and minor in Management and Communication Studies. She studied abroad in Edinburgh (United Kingdom) and Prague (Czech Republic).
