

Coastal EbA at the Climate-Nature-People Nexus: Insights from IUCN & the ReSea Project

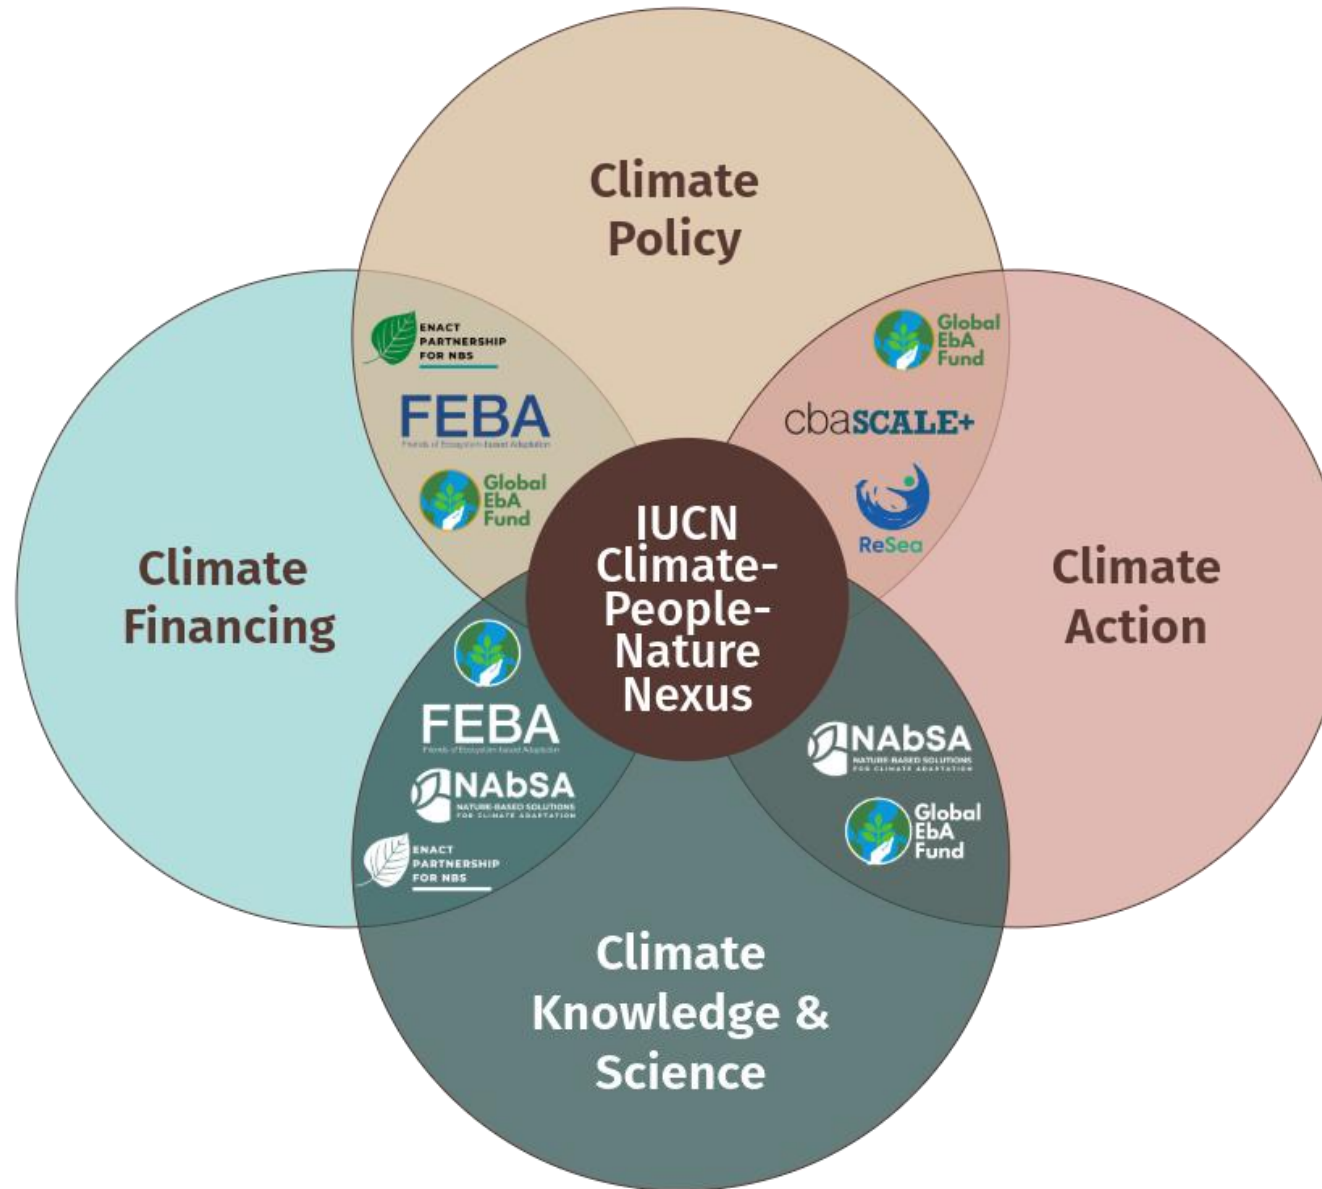

Christopher Roy

Programme Officer

Climate Change & Energy Transition Team

IUCN

IUCN Climate Team's approach to EbA

IUCN Climate Team's approach to EbA

Finance

Catalytic funding mechanism for supporting innovative approaches to EbA to create an enabling environment for its mainstreaming and scaling up

Globalebafund.org

Network

Global Network of 115+ organizations advancing EbA through collaboration, knowledge production & sharing

Friendsofeba.com

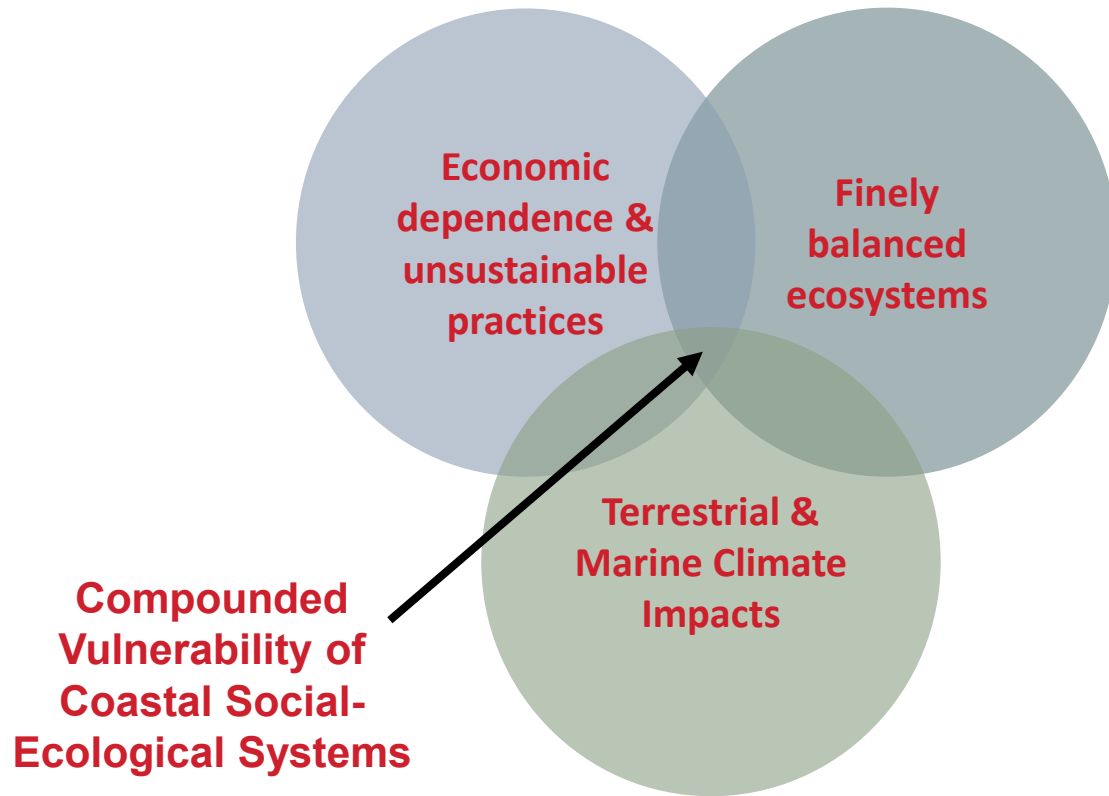

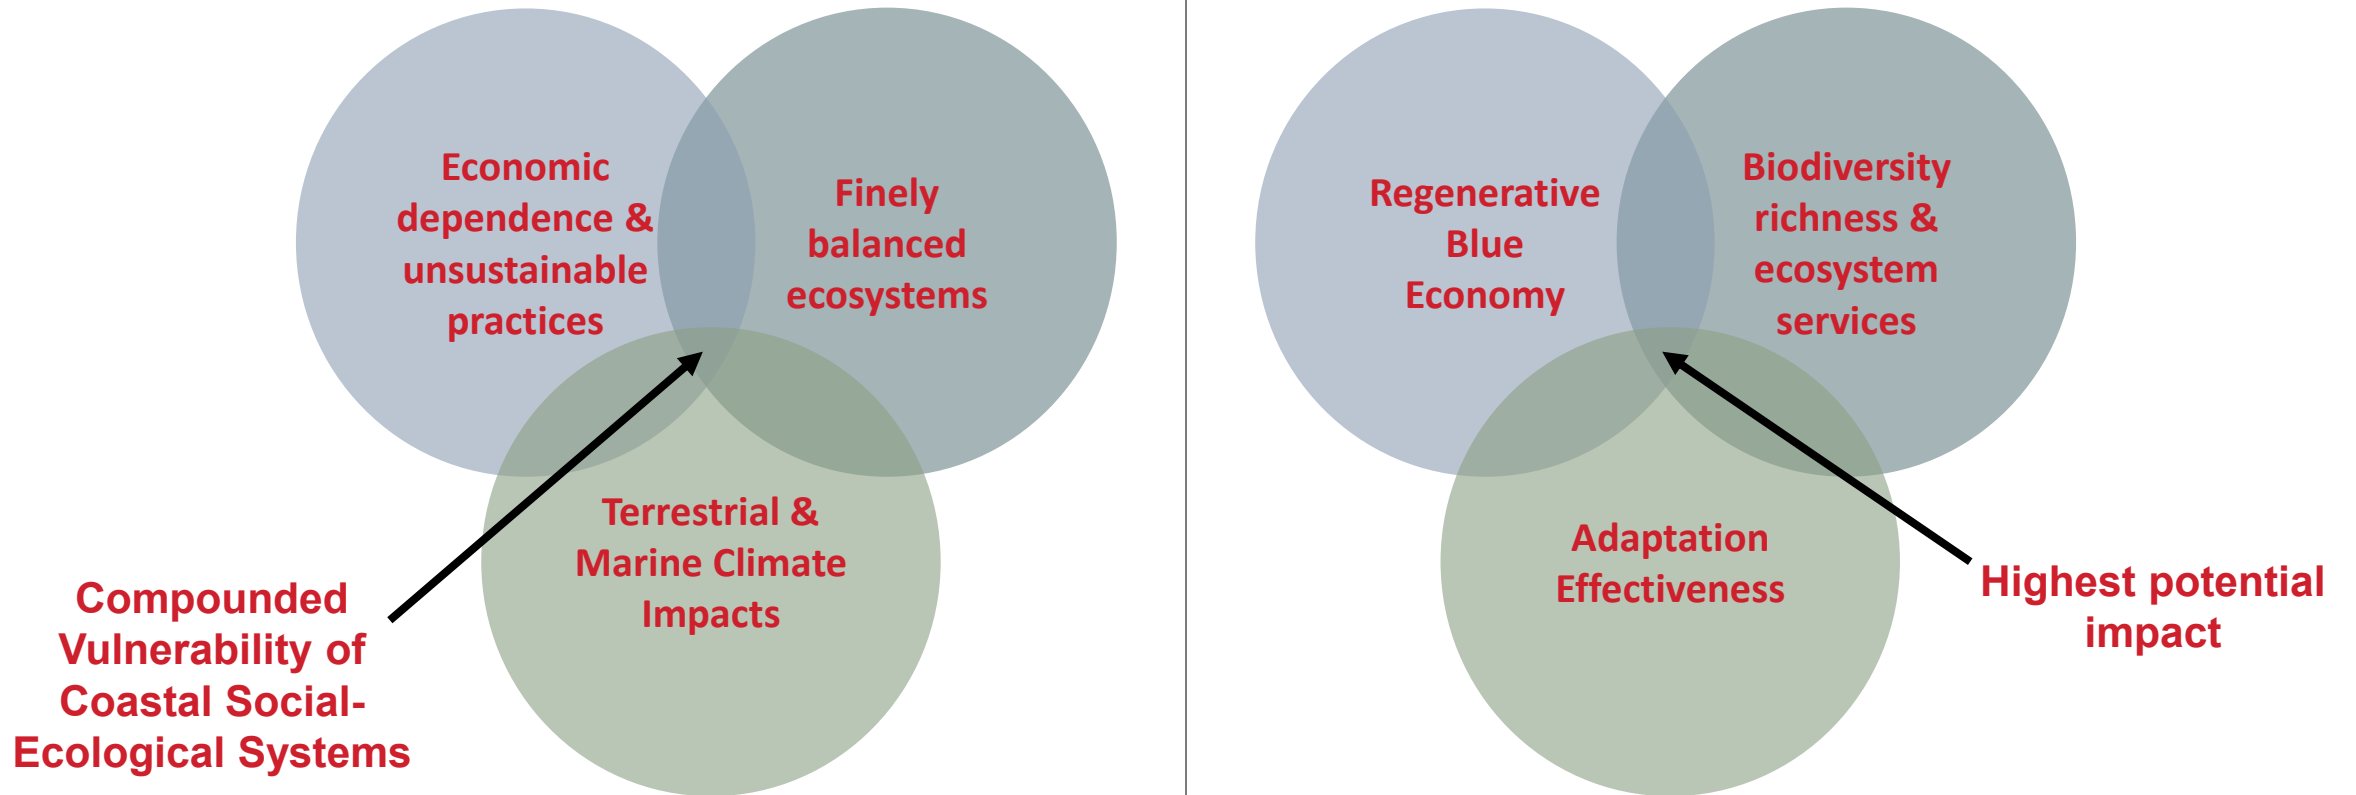

Action

Enhancing the climate resilience of people living in coastal communities in the Western Indian Ocean (WIO) region

iucn.org/resea

Comoros, Kenya, Madagascar, Mozambique, Tanzania

70,000 Direct Beneficiaries, at least 50% women
EbA training to 400+ local partners, community leaders and policy-makers Establishing demonstration sites using a coastal EbA Operational Framework

Blue Planet

Improved conservation of marine protected areas (MPA) and locally managed marine areas (LMMA)

Blue Nature

Enhanced adoption of gender-responsive EbA

Blue People

Increased women's economic empowerment in the regenerative blue economy

1. Participatory Operational Framework responding to Climate-Nature-People Nexus
 - Integrated assessments
2. Gender-responsive blue economy approach
 - Enhancing long-term sustainability
3. Capacity building & multi-stakeholder engagement
 - Adaptive to needs, multi-stakeholder dialogues, demonstration sites

Holistic, participatory and locally grounded

1. Fragmented efforts

- Interdisciplinary capacity
- Data fragmentation & accessibility

2. Long term resilience

- Short-term community priorities
- Integrating science & local knowledge
- Building evidence base of benefits of EbA in response to climate risks

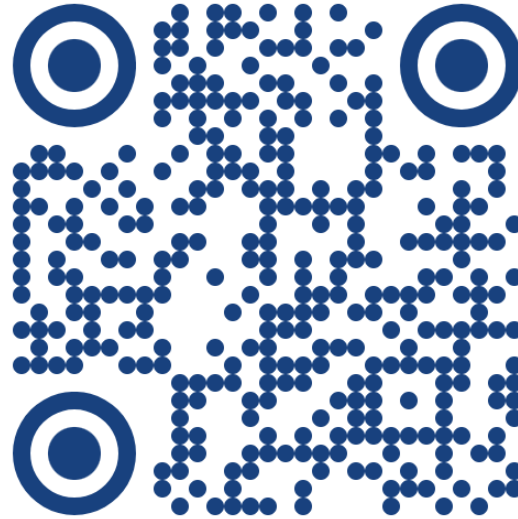

Integrated data, evidence base and interdisciplinary capacities for long term resilience

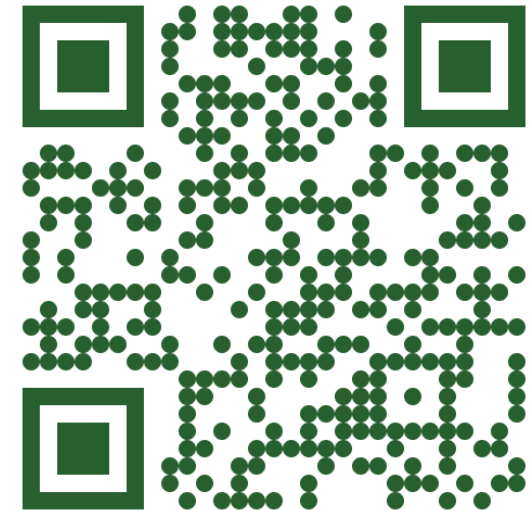

Thank you! & resources

Learn more about our range of EbA projects, including
ReSea

Get the latest updates from the Global EbA Fund – including call for proposals
announcements

Sign up to receive the NAbSA Operational
Framework & other resources