JOURNAL FOR EUROPEAN ENVIRONMENTAL & PLANNING LAW

The Journal for European Environmental & Planning Law (JEEPL) offers an intellectual forum for environmental law practitioners throughout Europe.

In a uniquely comparative and problem-oriented way it focuses on the effective implementation of EU environmental and planning law in the 25 Member States.

Editors from about 15 different countries, international organisations and institutions provide for a comprehensive approach and a wide range of topics.

Country Correspondents report on national judgments relevant to the application and interpretation of EU environmental and planning law.

A survey of jurisprudence identifies and comments on recent judgments by the European courts and international courts and tribunals.

A European report describes significant regulatory and political activities in Brussels.

A news section announces upcoming conferences and other important events.
